

ESKIMOS SAY COOK DID NOT GET TO POLE

Peary Wires That Natives Disprove Statement Of The Doctor As To Trip. PRACTICALLY REPUDIATES CLAIMS

The Roosevelt Is Reported As Returning South As Fast As It Is Possible, With Peary Aboard.

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)
New York, Sept. 8.—The following dispatch was received here early today:
(Wireless via Cape Ray, N. F.)
Indian Harbor, Lab., Sept. 7th.
To Mr. E. B. Stone of Associated Press, New York, U. S. A.
"I have passed the stars and stripes to the north pole. This is authoritative and correct."
"Dr. Cook's story should not be taken too seriously."
"Two of the Eskimoes who accompanied him say he went no distance north and not out of sight of land."
"Other members of the tribe corroborate their story."
(Signed) PEARY.

Starts Trouble.
This is taken to mean that Peary entirely repudiates the story told by Dr. Frederick Cook, which was sent out on September first announcing that he had discovered the pole. It will open up a new field for controversy despite the fact that Dr. Cook says his data and observations are all in the hands of Harry Whitney, who expects to return to this country from Labrador the first of the coming month.

Whitney Heard From.
According to Dr. Cook's story related to the correspondents in Copenhagen, he gave to Harry Whitney the precious proofs of his discovery and that Whitney will bring them back to this country. Whitney is a wealthy New Haven man who fitted out a relief expedition for Dr. Cook several years ago and is now in the north on a hunting expedition, having accompanied Peary as far as one of the lower bases of his supplies. He has sent word that he expects to return on the "Roosevelt," and is merely waiting for a little extra hunting.

Scientists Divided.
While the scientists who have given thought to the claims of both men are divided, still it is certain that this dispatch of Peary will do much to discredit the claims made by Dr. Cook. However, advice from Copenhagen where Dr. Cook is being received as the real discoverer, shows that the men who have interviewed him and questioned him closely, believe his story, and he had made a profound impression upon the Danish court. Cook will sail for this country at once and will probably reach here about the time Peary does.

Later Dispatch.
The following dispatch from Peary was received later today:
"I took Whitney on board at Etah. Dr. Cook has gone to Copenhagen."
"I met the relief steamer, 'Jennie,' off Saunders Island, Aug. 23."
"Whitney went on board the 'Jennie' and we parted company after the twenty-fourth."

Starts South.
(By wireless via Cape Ray, N. F.)
Indian Harbor, Sept. 8.—The steamer "Roosevelt" with Peary aboard, left Indian Harbor at noon today for Etah Harbor. She is expected here tomorrow.

May Not Stop.
"The Peary steamer, 'Roosevelt,' was sighted at 10:00 a. m. today. It is not yet determined whether she will call or proceed to Chateau Bay."

St. John's, N. F., Sept. 8.—A telegram from Etah Harbor, Sept. 8.—The steamer "Roosevelt" with Peary aboard, left Etah Harbor at noon today for Etah Harbor. She is expected here tomorrow.

HAPPY ENDING TO YOUTHFUL ROMANCE

Cincinnati Woman Kept Many Years From Man She Loved By Duty Wedded To Him Today.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)
Cincinnati, O., Sept. 8.—A romance of renunciation and constancy extending over a period of nearly forty years culminated in the wedding today of George C. Custer, auditor of the board of education of Chicago, and Miss Alice Gertrude Hatfield of Madisonville, a suburb of Cincinnati, where the marriage took place. The bride is 57 years old and the bridegroom 70 years.

The bride's father, Colonel John P. Hatfield, was killed in the civil war, and Miss Hatfield and her mother were left dependent on their own resources. As soon as she was old enough, Miss Hatfield met about caring for her own and her mother's living. Then she met George Custer, a comparatively young man with a romantic background of experience in the California gold fields, and a friendship sprang up which showed indications of ripening into something deeper.

Miss Hatfield, however, felt that her duty to her mother and marriage was not in her program. Mr. Custer removed to Chicago, was employed as a newspaper reporter, and a few years later was married to a cousin of Miss Hatfield. The latter remained single. Mrs. Custer died two years ago after having been an invalid for ten years. Since then Mr. Custer, now a man of wealth and prominence in Chicago, returned to his old home on a visit and again met the sweetheart of his youth. The old love flame was kindled anew and the couple's engagement was soon announced. After a wedding trip to the Pacific coast Mr. and Mrs. Custer will return to Chicago to reside.

WILL SEEK RADICAL CHANGES IN LAWS

Farmers' Union In Session In Birmingham, Ala., Want Better Help For Cotton Growers and Others

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)
Birmingham, Ala., Sept. 8.—Far-reaching results of a political nature may be expected from the national convention of the Farmers' Union, now in session in this city with an attendance of delegates from a score or more of states. The meeting is the regular annual session for the consideration of reports, the discussion of matters relating to the price of crops and their marketing, the election of officers and other business of a routine character. It is expected, however, that other matters of far more importance to the public at large will be discussed by the delegates, for it is realized that the time has come when the prediction that the Farmers' Union was destined to play an important part in politics is about to be fulfilled.

It is now recognized by all that the work of organizing the farmers of the South and Southwest, especially the cotton farmers, has made such strides in the last six months that the union will be forced to the front politically in Mississippi, Louisiana, Texas, and possibly one or two other states, and that even if the union does not carry the primaries or elections and secure the offices it will nevertheless be able to compel the politicians and officials to adopt its views on agricultural and economic questions and to put into effect a broad system of state aid to the farmers.

If the Farmers' Union wins the legislative in the line of Socialism, then ever before, for the state credit of state money will be pledged to finance the cotton crop and perhaps other crops, to erect warehouses for their storage, and to control, if not operate, the cottonseed oil mills. Legislation will be asked not only of the states but of Congress also, arrangements are to be completed at the convention now in session to send agents to Washington to secure laws asked for. The first of these laws, according to statements made by prominent members of the union, will be a statute closing the New York and New Orleans cotton exchanges and making it a felony to speculate in cotton.

It is intended to make the Farmers' Union membership national. The present membership is reported to exceed one million. It is organized in all of the states of the South and in several of the Western states, but is strongest in the three southwestern states of Texas, Louisiana and Mississippi.

HEAVYWEIGHTS ARE READY FOR FIGHT

Jack Johnson and Al Kaufman Have Finished Training and Will Scrap Tomorrow Night.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)
San Francisco, Cal., Sept. 8.—Jack Johnson and Al Kaufman, who are slated to meet tomorrow afternoon in the arena of the Madison Street athletic club, have completed their work of preparation and are ready for the sound of the going to catch them into the ring. Kaufman has trained faithfully for the bout and is confident of making a good showing against the big black fighter who has refused to fight. The articles of agreement call for a go of ten rounds. Agreement on the terms of agreement if both men are on their feet at the end of the contest there will be no decision.

The contest has aroused a lively interest in sporting circles, as it will be Johnson's first appearance in the ring in this part of the country since he won the title from Tommy Burns in Australia. The manager Coffey of the athletic club expects a large crowd at the ring-side, especially as the day is a legal holiday throughout California.

NEW YORK AWAITS ADMIRAL SEYMOUR

Heartily Welcome Will Be Given Sailor At Fulton Celebration Last Of Month.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)
New York, Sept. 8.—New York is awaiting with considerable interest the coming of Admiral Sir Edward Herbert Seymour, the distinguished naval officer whom King Edward is sending over in command of the British squadron that is to take part in the Hudson-Fulton celebration the last of this month. Admiral Seymour is one of the most distinguished officers in the British navy. He served through the Crimean war, the China war of 1857 to 1862, the Egyptian war of 1882 and the Boer rebellion of 1900.

Admiral Seymour enjoys the distinction, unique for a foreigner, of having commanded under a force of United States sailors and marines. It was at the time of the siege of the fortress of Malakoff, in the Crimea, that he was at the head of the British forces. The arrival of the foreigner, before which eventually captured Peking a gallant but unsuccessful attempt was made from Tientsin to relieve the legations by means of a force composed of the sailors and marines of the various men-of-war within reach. Of this force, which greatly distinguished itself by its bravery, Sir Edward Seymour, by common consent, received supreme command not only as the ranking admiral, but also as the most popular officer. Indeed, Sir Edward acted throughout with such perfect tact and courage as to win the good-will of every officer and man under his command, no matter what his nationality.

SYSTEMIC CATARRH.

MR. C. A. LANDGRAVE.

Mr. C. A. Landgrave, Box 25, Coalburg, Ohio, writes: "I had been a sufferer for a number of years, but paid little or no attention to it, until the spring of this year, when my suffering became very severe. "I had pain in the head, back, spine, liver, chest, and various parts of my body, besides indigestion that caused me much trouble and anxiety. I often thought when I retired at night I would not live through it. I tried medical aid, but to no purpose. "Not knowing what was my main trouble I wrote to Dr. Hartman, after reading of his treatment, for advice, telling him of my various ailments, and he notified me at once that I had systemic catarrh. "After using the first bottle of Peruna I felt relief, so I continued to use it until I had taken four bottles, when I felt entirely cured. I recommend it to all others, believing that they will experience the relief that I did." Peruna as a Tonic.

Mr. William F. Hawkins, 12 West 8th, Westerville, O., writes:

"I wish to give my testimony in favor of Peruna as a tonic. I have used the same for catarrh, and can recommend it to all who are troubled in that way."

THE HUMAN foot should be allowed to grow naturally. To shape it to the changing fashion is to force the soft, pliable, growing bones, cords and muscles into unnatural and deformed shapes. The foot thus pinched from its natural shape is often a source of suffering in later life. These pictures show the right and wrong way of shoeing the infant's foot.

Their Appropriate Place. "What is this institution?" "One where all the next-to-nature heart faddists ought to go." "Why so?" "Because it is a home for the feeble-minded, where all the inmates lead the real simple life."

There is little doubt, however, but that she will fully recover from her terrible experience.

Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul CHANGES ORDERED BY RAILWAY OFFICIALS.

That Janesville, on account of the large amount of traffic handled here, should have the precedence over Mineral Point on the Mineral Point Division, is the import of a bulletin recently posted in the roundhouse. In the future all train crews on the Mineral Point Division running from Janesville to that city, except those who hold regular runs, will not be deprived of their engines at Mineral Point on the principle of first in and first out. This rule of first in and first out will hold at Janesville, but not at Mineral Point. The only exception made is in the case of those who are deprived of their engine on account of an emergency or an accident. In that contingency the train crew will hold themselves subject to orders from Janesville or deadhead home on the first passenger train.

Engine 775 on the North McGregor runs, 141 and 330, is in the house for repairs. Engineer Mills took the 614 out in her place today.

The swing crew, Engineer Harrison and Fireman McCarthy, comes off the Mineral Point passenger today. It is expected that Engineer Smith will take Engineer Fox's place this afternoon.

Fireman Dalton is relieving Dispatcher-Helmer Dennis Courtney today.

The Reason

Postum builds up the human body to a prime condition of health, is that when coffee is left off, the drug effects of its poison—caffeine—disappear and the elements in Postum unite with the albumen of food to make gray matter and rebuild the delicate nerve centres all over the body and in the brain.

This sets up a perfect condition of nerve health, and the result is that the entire body feels the effect of it.

Making Money On the Farm

XIV.—Poultry—The Question of Breed

By C. V. GREGORY.

Author of "Homo Course in Modern Agriculture"

Copyright, 1909, by American Press Association

There are breeds, varieties and strains of poultry almost without end. To the beginner in poultry culture the question of which one to select is a puzzling one, and the older poultrymen often wonder if they would not do better to change breeds. The purpose for which chickens are kept will determine which class of fowls is best. As to the varieties within that class, it is largely a matter of individual preference. A brief description of some of the leading varieties may be of help in making a selection.

The General Purpose Breeds. Chickens may be grouped into four general classes: (1) General purpose breeds; (2) meat breeds; (3) laying breeds; (4) ornamental breeds. The aim of the breeder of general purpose fowls is to combine laying and meat producing ability to the greatest extent possible. The general purpose birds will not average as prolific layers as some of the more strictly egg fowls. For producing meat, however, they are fully as efficient as the strictly meat breeds. For the general farmer who is keeping poultry as a side issue the returns from the general purpose breeds will usually be greater than from any of the more specialized breeds.

The most popular and most widely distributed of the general purpose breeds is the Plymouth Rock. It is a medium sized breed, deep breasted and well proportioned. Plymouth Rocks are very good layers, especially the first year. After the hens are a year old they tend to become fat and sluggish and lay fewer eggs. The meat is of excellent quality. The chickens make good broilers at from three to four weeks of age or can be profitably fed for later markets. They are early maturing and as rapid growers excel all other breeds. Chicken feeders who crate-fatten extensively put the Plymouth Rock in first place for this purpose.

There are three varieties of Plymouth Rocks—Barred, White and Buff. The great trouble with the Barred Plymouth Rock is the difficulty in keeping the color markings up to standard. They tend to become unevenly barred, the bars become too wide or too narrow or the general color too dark or too light. From a utility standpoint this factor is of little importance, but where birds or eggs are sold for breeding purposes it is important that the color markings be up to standard. The Buff Rocks have a tendency to vary somewhat from the desired shade and to produce black feathers in wings or tail. They average a little smaller than the Barred or White varieties. The White Rocks breed true to color the earliest. The hens of this variety show even more of a tendency to become overfat than do those of the Barred variety.

Plymouth Rock eggs are brown, which is something of an objection in some markets and an advantage with others. The standard weight for the breed is nine and a half pounds for cocks and seven and a half for hens. Plymouth Rocks are criticized somewhat for lack of hardiness as compared with the other general purpose breeds, and there is doubtless some ground for this criticism. They may be greatly improved in this point by the use of birds of exceptionally strong vitality in the breeding pen.

Next to the Plymouth Rocks in popularity as a general purpose breed are the Wyandottes. They average about a pound lighter than the Plymouth Rocks. The chickens are nearly as rapid growers and produce meat of as good or even better quality.

The Wyandottes are generally considered to stand heavy feeding for rapid growth a little better than most of the other breeds. The hens are active and do not become overfat as easily as Plymouth Rocks.

There are several varieties of Wyandottes, all the same type and having the same general characteristics. The only distinguishing point is the color. With this breed, as with the Plymouth Rocks, the mixed colors are difficult to breed true to standard. For the man who does not wish to devote a great deal of time to breeding for fancy points a solid color is preferable. One of the newest of the general purpose breeds is the Rhode Island Red. These fowls are very hardy, and for that reason well adapted to farm conditions. They rank up well with the Plymouth Rocks and Wyandottes in laying ability and as meat producers. They are about the same size as the Wyandottes, the standard weight being eight and one-half pounds for the cock and six and one-half pounds for the hen. The color is a brilliant red, with portions of the tail and wings shading off to black. The exact shade of color varies considerably.

There are a number of other general purpose breeds, such as the Dominiques, Buckeyes and Javas. The latter are about the same size as the Plymouth Rocks, though of a little different shape. They lay well, are fairly good for meat and are good sitters. There are two varieties, black and mottled. The objection applies to this breed that is made to all birds with black plumage—that the black pinfeathers detract considerably from the appearance of the dressed fowl. Such birds are seriously discriminated against in the markets. The foregoing breeds have been developed in this country and are known as American breeds. There is also an English breed, the Orpingtons, that gives very good satisfaction as a general purpose fowl.

The Meat Breeds. The meat breeds, most of which are Asiatics, are the oldest breeds in this country. The Brahmas, one of the most common of these, are large, the male weighing eleven to twelve pounds and the hen eight and a half to nine and a half. This large size is one of the chief points in favor of the Brahmas. They are slow maturing, and it takes considerable feeding to get their large frames thickly enough covered with meat to be in good market condition. Like all feathered legged breeds, the Brahma is clumsy and for this reason does not make a first class mother. The pullets are too slow in maturing to lay many eggs the first winter. Even when matured they are not heavy layers, though they do most of their laying in the winter, when eggs are high. This is largely because their large size and heavy feathering make them less susceptible to cold. As meat producers the Brahmas are about equal to the general-purpose breeds, though for high class capons they are perhaps a little superior. There are two varieties of Brahmas, light and dark. The light Brahmas are the more popular. The black variety is more difficult to breed for color, and much attention to fancy points has caused utility to be largely lost sight of.

Cochins are the second of the meat breeds in size, the males weighing eleven pounds and the hens eight and a half. They are of the same massive, full feathered type as the Brahmas, averaging a trifle shorter legged and wider across the back. Like the Brahmas, they are hardy. They are not as good layers, however, and are just as slow in maturing. There are four varieties, of which the buff is the most common.

Both these breeds have served a good purpose in grading up the mongrel strains of the country and providing foundation stock for the American breeds. At present, however, they have few points of superiority over the American breeds as meat producers and are inferior to them in laying ability. As show fowls they are prized because of their size and beauty.

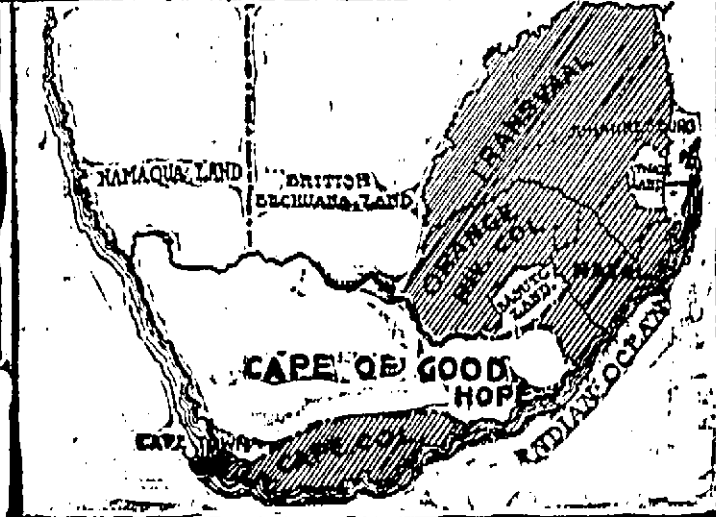

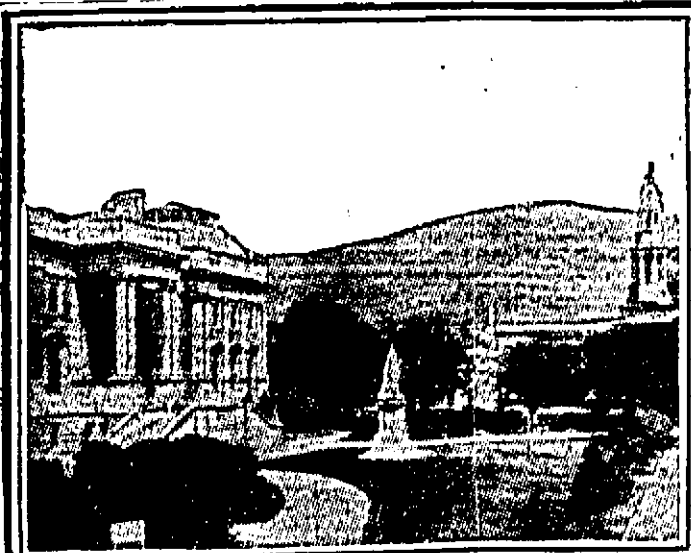

The smallest and quickest maturing of the Asiatic breeds is the Langshans. They are objectionable because of their black color, white skin and feathered legs and do not excel the American breeds in any practical qualities. An English breed, the Dorkings, are good meat producers, but poor layers. For the man who is in the poultry business from a utility standpoint one of the general purpose or laying breeds will be more satisfactory than any of the meat breeds.

The Laying Breeds.

The laying breeds originally came from the region around the Mediterranean sea, and hence are often referred to as the Mediterranean breeds. The most popular of these is the Leghorn. Leghorns are small birds, not more than half the size of the Asiatics. They are very active and good foragers. They outrank any of the other breeds in laying qualities, laying both summer and winter in properly cared for. They are not adapted to the poultryman who pays no attention to his chickens, as they will not lay unless they are given good care. They lay white eggs weighing ten to the pound. The eggs of the American breeds weigh eight to the pound.

The small size of the Leghorn hens makes them cheaply kept. They are early maturing, often beginning to lay when they are four and a half months old. Their flesh is of good quality, but their size is against them from a market standpoint. The only way the cockerels can be disposed of at a profit is to sell them as broilers at two pounds weight or smaller. Of the several varieties of Leghorns the white and brown are the most popular from a utility standpoint.

South African colonies form confederation.

Map showing the four colonies united under the confederation bill, which has just passed its second reading in the English parliament. Premier Aaght, in high hat who has been instrumental in assisting the colonies in the confederation. Louis Botha, prime minister of the Transvaal, who is in London watching closely every move of the British parliament. Parliament house at Cape Town.

London, Eng.—What promises to be the most important political step ever taken by the British parliament in handling their colonial problems is the passing of the confederation bill this week. By the passing of the bill four of the principal South African colonies are united under an independent government with their own central law-making bodies and president. The four provinces include Orange River Colony, Cape Colony, Natal and the Transvaal. They are to retain their present names, with the exception of the Orange River Colony which once more becomes the Orange Free State. Cape Town is to be the seat of legislature and Pretoria of the executive.

The first senate is to be composed of eight senators nominated by the governor and eight elected by the provinces. This senate will sit for 10 years and after that parliament may otherwise provide for its constitution. To the house of Assembly the Cape will send 51, Natal 17, Transvaal 336 and the Orange Free State 17. The traditional practice of the British parliament is to be followed in the main.

Another important point is the question of free trade which exists throughout the union, the duties of custom and excise existing at the time of the establishment of the union to remain in force until otherwise altered by parliament.

With regard to language, the English and Dutch tongues are to be treated on an equal footing as official languages of the union. With regard to the natives, control will be largely vested with the governor general in council. At present it is not proposed to give a vote to the natives. There are 19 delegates from the four provinces of South Africa. They include General Botha, prime minister of the Transvaal; Mr. Styn, formerly president of the Orange River Colony; Dr. Jameson, Mr. Hofmeyr; Mr. Merriam, president of Cape Colony; Mr. J. C. Smuts, colonial secretary of the Transvaal; Sir Henry de Villiers; Mr. Hull, Transvaal treasurer; Sir George Farrar (well known mining magnate and major of colonial troops); Sir Percy Fitzpatrick (largely connected with mining, born at King William's Town, Cape Colony); Mr. Moor-premier of Natal, and Sir Richard Solomon, agent general for the Transvaal. The first governor of the union of South Africa is to be the earl of Selborne.

Judging by Appearances. Small Boy—"Mamma, was Gen. Washington blind?" Mamma—"Of course not. Where did you get that idea?" Small Boy—"Nurse took me to the Old Ladies' home today and showed me the portrait of a woman that he kissed."—New York Weekly.

The Blessings of Trouble. "Trouble has its blessings," said the old philosopher. "When the wolf howls at the door he may wake a sleeping policeman; and when the hurricane hits your house the bailiff may be sitting on the doorstep; and may get the blowout of his life."

Finding One's Work. Blessed is he who has found his work; let him ask no other blessing. He has a work, a life purpose; he has found it, and will follow it!—Thomas Carlyle.

Any Open Type Ford Car for Summer Is Quickly Changed to Closed Car for Winter.

SUMMER AND WINTER AUTOMOBILING.

Automobile riding in summer days was a satisfactory condition a few years ago. Buyers expected to keep their cars in storage all winter, but that was partly due to the inability of those cars to make good in snow, slush and ice, and partly due to the fact that automobile riding was regarded as a sunshiny day pleasure. A Ford car is good for 365 days in the year, and the owner wants his car as badly in December as in June. Often he wants it more in December on account of the condition under-foot. Ford builds but one chassis and it is interchangeable.

use it while the weather is suitable, and when the season changes and you wish for a closed car, an hour's work makes a closed car out of the other and the only expense you are to is the nominal cost of the closed body. The Ford car, which costs so little, will answer every purpose which its high priced competitor serves. There is a saving in price, a saving in tire expense, fuel, oil, and repairs.

car made. Did you get it? A price is only low when compared with value and prices of other makes. Because it is possible to obtain a model "T" car at that price, any car now on the market or in the embryonic stage or announcement stage, selling at any price, is not low priced. It might be designated medium price and occupy a middle position, but Ford is not a cheap car—there is a small market for such and too many ready to supply it. Ford makes a car more cheaply because he makes only one car in enormous quantities and all his energy, ability and factory is devoted to making that one single solitary 4-cylinder 20 h. p. wonder.

possible if the output can be made large enough. The entire Ford plant is devoted to building this one model and 25,000 cars in the 12 months' production. The manufacturer turning out a high priced car, a so-called medium priced car and a cheap car, shrinks somewhere—it's not on the high priced end—and the production is limited to a few thousand of each. Ford is an actual production, not paper production. Ford is now delivering between 450 and 500 cars every six days. While other manufacturers are planning their 1910 models, Ford is producing. Every problem has been worked out in service. This announcement deals in realities, not prospects. There are right now over 2500 model T Fords on the streets and roads. The price was fixed after the car was finished—not while in the promoter's brain.

with a 1910 Model T, just exactly the car every Ford buyer gets. This was the hardest, toughest, most grueling contest ever run. The lowest price competitor sold for over five times the price of the Ford. "Medium priced" cars were not entered. The Ford winner established a record for this trip, made the journey in 20 days and 52 minutes in open competition and averaged 230 miles a day. Not only did it win at the finish, but it was first at 27 out of 30 checking stations. It won in mud, in sand, on mountains and in valleys. It was a winner from start to finish and beat the pick of American and foreign high priced and heavy cars. When you buy a Ford Model "T" you secure a car that would duplicate this performance. The story of the race will be sent to you on request.

BUY YOUR 1910 CAR NOW.
Buy a 1910 Model "T" Ford now and you get several months of good riding, besides making a saving in price, as prices advance Oct. 1st. Prices now: Touring car $850, Tourabout $850, Roadster $25, Coupe $1050, Landulet $1100, Town Car $1200, all prices f. o. b. Detroit.

MOST INTERESTING

It is most interesting to note the attitude of the general public in the street car matter. Outside of the attorneys for the company and some of the employees and perhaps one or two of the local stockholders the consensus of opinion appears to be that City Attorney Maxfield did not make his complaint half strong enough. The absurdity of the answer of the defendant's lawyers in denying all the facts of the complaint has aroused public ire. Radical steps are urged by some who see the disgrace to the city that the street cars are. Evidently the attitude of the Madison estate will be one of simply saying, "Well, what are you going to do about it?" The question is, What are the people going to do about it? Are they going to wait for the tedious delays of the court or are they going to start so many actions, seek injunctions and invoke police powers to stop this public nuisance which "is a menace to life and limb." The best we can expect under the present methods of procedure is that a year from today perhaps the courts will compel the Madison estate to do something. Meanwhile the rickety old rattle-traps called cars, second hand when they came here, now of an obsolete pattern, with flat wheels and thumping motors, that rock and sway like drunken sailors, will continue to annoy businessmen on the right of way and be the laughing stock of visitors. One of the first things that Janesville should do in the line of advancement is to get rid of the present street car system—wipe it out—and go back to the old mule wagons if necessary, but in some way stop this continual nuisance from existing.

HARRIMAN'S INFLUENCE

Henry Claws, the New York financier, writes of the situation on the New York stock exchange as follows: "The stock market has been taking the rest cure, which was much needed after the late collapse in the Harmanian issues. The suspension of business for three successive days also induced further quietness. It is perfectly evident that for the time being at least the spirit of the bulls has been impaired. Their leader and muleman has withdrawn, probably to never again resume his former active command. No longer can the mystic conjured up in Mr. Harriman's influence be used to manipulate the stock market; and hereafter his specialities will be obliged to sell more strictly upon their merits, a condition that will be wholesome and will contribute to financial stability. Upon the whole it is highly fortunate that the market is relieved of the baneful effects of wild speculations. Probably Mr. Harriman never intended that his plans should have the peculiar influence upon the public mind which they did; yet his dominating and arbitrary personality appealed to the imagination and completely hypnotized the unthinking class, so that his securities readily became the baubles of wild and hazardous orgies in the speculative arena; and while Mr. Harriman's great speculative transactions proved successful, thanks largely to good fortune, the effect was dangerously inflammatory upon individuals of a speculative disposition. Happily the fever which these operations induced is now subsiding, and the market is settling down into sane and safer conditions. Whatever of more there happens to be in Mr. Harriman's great schemes will remain, and on such it is to be sincerely hoped that he will be able to carry them to completion. If not, however, there is no reason to suppose but that competent successors will appear who will safeguard the future of the entire system."

PEARY'S CLAIM

Peary today wires the Associated Press that the natives claim that Dr. Cook did not get very far north, in fact never out of sight of land, and that his discovery of the pole is an absurdity. This begins the controversy that promises to wage for years to come. Who was first at the Pole—Cook or Peary? Both will have friends and supporters and the fight will prove most interesting, although a tiresome one to the public.

There is only one more Pole to discover now, so that attention may now be turned to the southern extremity of the earth for awhile. Still Mars has not been heard from or the mountains of the Moon explored, so there is plenty to do yet.

It is almost time for Roosevelt to shoot a few more elephants or do something to attract the public to corner lots in Africa again.

Where are the people who a few years ago believed the stories of the Wright Bros. flying machines were simply newspaper yarns?

It will be a grand thing if alcohol can be made from lumber waste, if the lumber trust will allow any lumber to go to waste.

This is a year of progress certainly. Two men discover the Pole and make their announcement within a few days of each other.

Who would ever think that mild-mannered men of science could develop into such a class of knockers as they have.

JUST ABOUT BABIES.

This writing on how to train a baby is by a man.

The presumption of it!

What does a more man know about babies? Strange as it may appear, a man may have learned something from observation, and his point of view may be very well worth while.

Anyway, you will please permit a man who has had babies in his house to say a word to young mothers.

I would advise you to decide very early in the baby's career who is boss—you or the baby.

Of course your baby is just the finest and sweetest baby in babydom, but all the same it doesn't know what it needs. It thinks it knows what it wants, and so it frets and cries and kicks until something is done. And then—

When it gets something done as its reward for making noise and demonstration it has learned that the way to get things is to make a fuss.

The baby cannot be blamed. It has been educated in the art of getting things by means of howls and strivings.

There is sleeping, for instance. Anybody knows that babies are born with the perverse notion that daytime is for sleep and nighttime is for keeping others from sleep.

Even a man knows that babyish propensity.

The baby needs educating, that's all. It will require firmness to administer the first lesson. Baby will squall its precious head off when you turn down the light. Let it squall. It will eventually save many squalls. After the first lesson baby will learn that night is the time for sleeping.

And so on as to everything. The sooner the kid learns obedience the better and happier the kid will be.

When it grows older it will perhaps demand that you carry it about. That is the survival of the primeval instinct, and there must be another lesson, else you, the mother, will go about with drooping shoulders and carrowyn faces—a forlorn beast of burden.

Don't!

If you bow to the nod of the baby boss and go about with weary feet and aching back and racking nerves it is your fault, not the baby's.

Moreover, you will cause a twist in your child's character that may give you many unhappy hours and possible ruin to your hopes.

Your baby is not a calf.

It is a sentient soul.

END of quarter for chunks that SUMMER lately brought a bone. Full soon the harbingers of winter will flourish in your neighborhood; the wood-yard man will leave a splinter, and charge you for a cord of wood. You'll buy a ton of shite or clunkers, and when you try to build a fire, you'll find it is not worth a thinker's remark when he is moved to try. It costs a lot to live in summer, but winter doubles all your bills; and when you're settled with the plumber, and with the doctor, for his pills, and with the coal man and the baker, the man who furnishes the gas, the druggist and the undertaker, you've reached a most unhappy pass. But what's the odds? This life is funny! Foul fall the fellow who repines! Cheer up, cheer up, and spend your money, as though you picked it off the vine!

AN INSTRUCTIVE GAME.

Playing Cards Named for Various Characters in History.

A game which is both entertaining and instructive is that devised by a Florida man. The rules of the game may vary and are of minor importance, the feature of the novelty lying in the character of the cards. These are numbered from 1 to 100, the one with the highest number bearing the likeness of a military leader of a nation and the others bearing the images of officers of the army of such leader, graduated according to the numerical values of the cards. Certain high-numbered cards are also lettered to each card has different value further complicate the game. Besides the high cards there are lower ones with pictures of private soldiers on them. In playing the game, which may be one of several popular games in which ordinary playing cards are usually employed, the higher values are represented by the higher officers, instead of by meaning less kings, queens and jacks. In this way a great deal of useful information can be absorbed in an easy and pleasant form of entertainment.

DR. TIPPETT MAY GET PLACE AT APPLETON

Janesville Divine Likely to Be Appointed Superintendent of That District at Conference.

Rev. J. H. Tippett, pastor of the Methodist church of this city, is being talked of as superintendent of the Appleton district of the West Wisconsin Conference. The conference meets today in Kenosha for its annual sessions and among other business to be considered is the appointment of a successor to Dr. Perry Miller, the present superintendent, who is to retire. Dr. Tippett has been most successful in his pastorate here and it is thought that his excellent record in Janesville will help him in securing the new position. His headquarters would be in Appleton and as two of his sons, Charles and Ralph, are planning to enter Lawrence college at Appleton this fall, it would be very convenient for him and his family if he could secure the position.

NEW YORK RESIDENCE OF E. H. HARRIMAN

PAYED $100,000 FOR NEW WHITE SOX PLAYERS.
CHARLES A. COMISKEY.
Chicago, Ill.—Spending money lavishly, Charley Comiskey is out to put the Chicago Americans back on the baseball map a pennant possibility. In 1910, already Comiskey has paid out $100,000 for players for next season according to the estimate of Garry Hermann, chairman of the National Baseball commission who has the only look at the real figures paid for each man. This is a stupendous sum to pay out for the strengthening of one team. Imagine how many franchises this would buy in minor leagues. Or Comiskey could have a whole team of $10,000 beatles picking up the stars of the game today.

But the "Old Roman" is going at it in a different way. He is getting young players and hopes to make them pennant contenders. Why? The Philadelphia Athletics and the Boston Red Sox of this season furnish the answer. These teams composed almost entirely of young players are making the real fight for the pennant in the American league. Comiskey would emulate the eastern owners. And before he is through with it there may be something like $200,000 laid out. This comes with the new ball park that the White Sox are to have and shows the value of a big franchise.

Now there is another plan broached.

Comiskey is urged to get out and work with his players in the spring. Scout Ted Sullivan is the suggester. He declares that Comiskey, one of the greatest of the old time players himself could see much better just what his youngsters were good for if he were on the field with them. So next season it may be a "personally selected" $200,000 Chicago American team that will take the field.

JANESVILLE DYE WORKS Carl F. Brockhaus Proprietor

IT'S mighty interesting to know, not only the great variety of articles that can be dry cleaned and dyed, but the process by which the work is done. The following article is chuck full of just the kind of information you wish to know and a knowledge of which will lead to the saving of many a pretty penny. "A penny saved is twice earned."

Our Purpose

To know that you can send your goods here with absolute assurance of perfect workmanship, and that they will be returned to you looking as bright and fresh as when new, and that the charge will be nominal compared to the value of the benefit, is the mission of our establishment and with such an aim in view this announcement is prepared.

Modern Methods

To facilitate the handling of all kinds of goods I recently attended a national convention of dyers and cleaners for but one purpose, and that was to know and see demonstrated the best machines and devices made for work of this class and to hear the discourses and lectures of men who have been made famous in metropolitan centers for the quality of their work. I believe that everybody can learn something now if they are willing, and I learned. I did more than that. I purchased every practical machine and device that could be applied to my business here in Janesville so as to enable it to produce the highest class of work and do it cheaply.

I have been in this business for the past 30 years, having established the business in Janesville in my present location on the 28th day of October, 1881.

Additions to Plant

To install this machinery it was necessary to build additions to my present plant, and today there is no better equipped dyeing and cleaning establishment in the state of Wisconsin.

What We Do

Did you know that FURS are dry cleaned with most excellent results? We do this class of work in a most thorough manner and guarantee that no moth can live through the process. If your furs are dusty or dirty after a year or two of service, send them here and we will return them sweet and fresh as new. Almost every article of wearing apparel, or for the household comes within our scope, special machinery being used in every process of the work.

The Process

When goods are received by us, if they are of heavy texture, such as suits, coats, blankets, carpets, etc., they are first put into a specially built metal rotary wheel, which by revolving around handles the clothes in such a manner as to shake out all dust and dirt. They are kept in this rotary wheel until all dust is removed, then placed in the dry cleaning machines, in which either naphtha, benzine or gasoline is used, whichever is best adapted for cleaning the fabric. The next process is a centrifugal machine which extracts all the fluid into which it has been placed. The article is then placed in a steam drying room until perfectly dry, then placed on a steaming board which brings out the fullness and lustre of the material. The garment is now ready for pressing, for which purpose we have steam buffers, electric irons or specially prepared steam pressing machine like the illustrations.

These machines are the very best device known to the trade for pressing of ladies' and gentlemen's clothing and cloth fabrics. The heat to the machines is supplied by gas, and the pressing is done with a pressure over a stretched canvas. Through this canvas live steam is forced into the fabric that is being pressed. This method is acknowledged the very best by all authorities. There is no possibility of scorching, the life is renewed to the fabric, germs and bacteria are killed by the steam, and in every way the method has been found to be ideal.

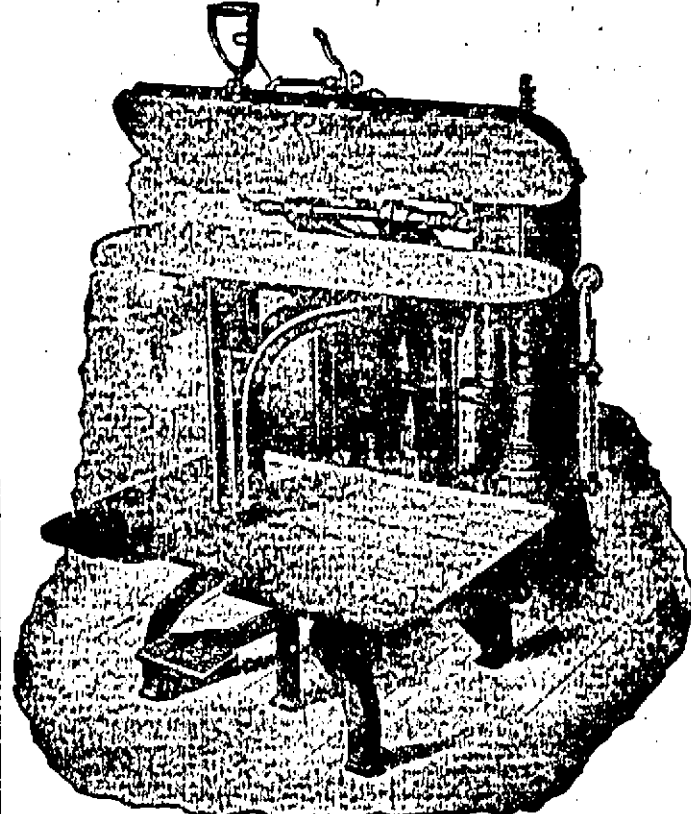

Various Machines

The washing machines are all operated by power and do the work of washing in an exacting manner with great ease. The old method of wringing out clothes is done away with. We have machines which remove all fluids from the clothes without pressing or twisting them. The clothes are put into sleeve-like cylinders which revolve very rapidly and by the centrifugal motion all water is forced out of the garment. The drying rooms are well ventilated. A large steam drum is used to stretch curtains and lace upon, by which they are given their true shape without the scalloped effects as when stretched and dried on stretchers. Puffers are used for ironing out fancy waists, sleeves and even gowns. Steam pressing machines are used for pressing men's clothing, by which process the work is done more thoroughly and the live steam is forced through the garment restoring its bright, true colors and fullness of weave.

What We Clean

The following is a brief outline of the articles we clean and dye:

Waists, Skirts, Dresses, Jackets, Coats, Infants' Goods, Robes, Furs, Cravettes, Hosiery,	Shawls, Gloves, Blankets, Laces and fine Embroidery, Veils, Handkerchiefs, Mufflers, Ribbons, Parasols,	Corsets, Neckties, Ostrich Feathers, Men's Clothing, Rugs, Draperies and artistic Hangings, Lace Curtains, RENOVATE Feathers, etc.

MODERN MACHINE FOR STEAM PRESSING LADIES' CLOTHING AND OTHER FABRICS.

Out of Town Work

Our work is not limited to Janesville, but we do work in all parts of the state and as far as North Dakota, Minnesota, Iowa, Illinois. Our system for handling out of town orders does away with any confusion and delay. When sending goods enclose with the package a note giving full instructions as to the work desired, also your name and address. However, if package is sent by mail, the postal laws require that only your name and address be enclosed, and you must then write a separate letter. Goods received for cleaning will be returned in three or four days. It takes from five to ten days for dyeing. After goods are received we send you an invoice stating cost of work and time when goods will be finished. This enables you to send prompt remittance. All packages held for payment unless ordered shipped C. O. D. It is sometimes necessary to re-clean or re-dye articles, causing some delay, which we prefer rather than send goods in any but a very satisfactory manner.

Special Mention

It is our thorough work and careful attention to detail, in every case giving absolute satisfaction and at moderate prices, that has built for us an extensive business and is upon such basis that we solicit your patronage. If you wish any particular information about certain articles, prices, etc., will appreciate a letter or card from you.

The Hungriest Boy on Earth is the growing boy at ten. You can't build him out of books or sermons. His growing body demands more building material than the adult. Nature is making for him a structure of brain, bone and muscular tissue. She must build it out of the food he eats and the air he breathes. The best food for the growing boy or girl is because it contains all the material for making bone, brain and muscle. The crispness of the shreds promotes mastication, which means sound teeth. The food to study on, to play on—for children and grown-ups. Your Grocer sells it.

Shredded Wheat Biscuit

A FEW FACTS

About Electric Lighting

It has practically no fire risk—no naked flame and requiring no matches.
It doesn't heat the room.
It does not discolor the walls and ceiling.
It always can be "snapped on" in a room where you think there is an intruder when you are being seen.
Aren't these few of the many excellent features worthy of your investigation?

The Evening Chit-Chat

By RUTH CAMERON

"I ISN'T the thing you've done, dear, it's the thing you've left undone. That gives you the bit of a headache at the setting of the sun." —Margaret Sangster.

"Oh, I just didn't think," most of us any of the kindly thing we failed to do.

And we fancy that wipes the slate clean—but it doesn't.

If there is justice in the Great Bookkeeper's accounts—and there surely is—some of omission are written down quite as surely as those of commission.

And chief among them all, I fancy, is the failure to pass along opportunities.

Whenever you know of an opportunity of any kind it is your absolute duty to make every effort possible to think up the person who fits that opportunity and to bring it to him.

My opportunity I mean a great many things—an empty seat in a carriage or automobile, an unused ticket for the concert, or lecture, or play, a chance to meet some interesting person, or an opening into some channel of work—especially the latter.

A girl came to me recently bewailing the fact that she had not heard until too late of a vacancy in the teaching corps of a town where she was especially desirous of teaching.

"And the worst of it is," she ended, "that Grace says if she had only thought she would have let me for she knew about the position all along."

No one has a right NOT to think of such things.

We are altogether too kind to ourselves when we call such bloodless selfishness by the mild name, "Thoughtlessness."

A music teacher in my acquaintance, whose position as the adored friend of her dozens of pupils gives her wide influence, forces herself to use that influence to fix value.

She is a very busy woman and it often means burdensome demands on her time, but she says, "I have no right to do otherwise."

Her wonderful pupils quite frequently do to use their season concert tickets. Through the music teacher these chances find their way to some starved little music lover among her poorer pupils.

A little mentions that her father is looking for a private secretary. The music teacher walks a mile to tell a struggling young stenographer of the chance.

The family of one of the wealthy pupils is going abroad and they are looking for some responsible person to keep the house open. By the teacher's efforts a poor little music student and her mother graduate, from hall bedrooms in a lodging house, to comparative heaven.

She gave generously of her money but this gift of herself seemed to her even more generous.

Look back over your life and remember how much meeting the right opportunity meant to you.

If you chance to know of any opportunity, have you the right to fail to do everything in your power to bring it to the man or woman whose golden gate into happiness it may be?

Forty Years Ago

Janesville Daily Gazette, Sept. 8, 1869.—The Congregational Church.

Of this city were very happily surprised at the opening of their communion service last Sabbath p. m. by the presentation, through their pastor-elect, Rev. Dr. Whiting, of a costly silver-gilt communion service from Mrs. Jane E. Reynolds of Philadelphia. It was presented to the church by the sister of Mrs. Reynolds, Mrs. J. R. Beale of this city. After the presentation by the minister, Deacon T. H. Little moved the adoption of a minute stating that the Congregational Church of Christ in Janesville had received from Mrs. Jane E. Reynolds by the hand—Mrs. J. R. Beale—of a sister's worth by the donor (an appreciation of her excellence as known to us by friends.) Mrs. J. R. Beale a suit of vestments for the communion table, viz., two flaggons; four cups; four plates and a baptismal basin. A vote of thanks was also sent to the lady.

A Slight Frost.—A gentleman who resides a short distance out of town reports a slight frost last night, not enough to do any damage.

A Great Race.—One of the most exciting races which ever took place in this city is advertised to come off on Saturday at the Janesville Driving Park, between b. m. Moll Brooks, entered by Gilbert Dutcher, and bk. h. Star of the West, entered by George Nelson. This trial of speed is the best three in five for $1,000, and gentlemen acquainted with the parties assure us that it will be a straight-forward, square match. Great interest is felt in the result by horsemen, and we therefore look to see the attendance large.

M'KEIGUE FINED FIFTY DOLLARS

Judge Fifield Denied Motion for Arrest of Judgment at Conclusion of Arguments Yesterday.

Judge Fifield denied the motion for an arrest of judgment when the arguments had been concluded in the case of the City of Janesville vs. Patrick J. McKellogg, late yesterday afternoon, and fined the defendant, who was convicted by a jury on August 31 of selling liquor on Sunday in violation of the city ordinance, $50 and costs. A notice of appeal from the decision was immediately filed by the defendant's attorney, E. H. Ryan. The latter contended that the jury verdict was perverse inasmuch as one of the six men was not a citizen of the United States; and that the ordinance was unconstitutional and invalid because the state legislature had passed a law along the same lines and because the measure in question had been signed by the president of the council before the expiration of the two weeks allowed a mayor for signifying his approval or disapproval. City Attorney Maxfield made no concession on any of these points and the court declared in his favor in every instance.

D'URBANO'S BAND GIVEN A WELCOME

Gifted Leader and His Forty Artists Delighted Two Large Audiences at Myers Theatre.

Signor Luigi D'Urbano and his remarkable band of forty musicians, who commanded the admiration of Janesville people last spring, have returned to the Myers theatre for a week's engagement and delighted large audiences yesterday at the first of their series of twelve afternoon and evening concerts. The program included selections from Wagner's "Lohengrin," Ballo's "Voguerin Girl," the overture to Rossini's "William Tell," Battisti's organ offertory, "The Merry Willow," operetta, the "Blue Danube Waltz," numerous popular marches rendered as encores, and the march "Majestic" by D'Urbano, who, at the age of 28, is a composer, as well as the most graceful baton conductor who ever enjoyed and coaxed and pleaded with and ruled and swayed the harmonies on a local platform. One moment he is taxing with a mere pencil point of sound and the next he is leading bands and kettle drums and trumpets and French horns into a crashing climax that all but lifts the listener off his feet. There are fourteen instrumental soloists in his organization, all of them graduates of the famous musical college at Naples, and little Miss Gerald sings some of the old and new ballads in a very acceptable fashion. The printed program indicates that during the week's stay the band and its leader will literally ransack the world's storehouse of musical treasures, interpreting the masterpieces of almost every clime and time. It is an opportunity for entertainment, enjoyment, and a musical education, that will not be overlooked.

SLAIN GIRL IS IDENTIFIED.

Maybelle Millman of Ann Arbor Victim of Brutal Detroit Murder.

Detroit, Mich., Sept. 8.—Bloodless from the ruthless knife of a murderer and shrouded by several days' immersion in the waters of Ecorse creek, the dismembered body of Miss Maybelle Millman, 18 years old, of Ann Arbor, Mich., lies in the county morgue, in a pitiable exhibit of human brutality.

In hope of discovering the remaining portion of the girl's body the sheriffs of Wayne and Washtenaw counties and the police of Ann Arbor and Detroit are uniting in a desperate endeavor to solve the mystery of Miss Millman's murder.

Miss Martha Hennige, a former schoolmate of the Millman girl, gave the identification verdict, which could not be disputed, and as a result of her story the scene of the investigation of the murder shifted from Detroit to Ann Arbor.

ROOT JUICE DEMONSTRATIONS DRAWING TO A CLOSE.

The Root Juice demonstration at the Reliable Drug Co.'s drug store will close next Saturday night. The Juice has done a wonderful lot of good here in Janesville, as many nervous wrecks have been restored to health, and numerous cases of rheumatism, catarrh, indigestion and kidney troubles have responded to the soothing, healing and tonic properties of the great medicine. Many have reported that after using many other kinds of medicines without benefit, the first bottle of Root Juice had such a healing, strengthening and nerve settling effect, that they were certain that a few bottles would make a permanent cure. The writer has not dozens on the streets that said: "After taking the Juice a short while I was feeling better than they had for years." For various reasons many do not wish their names published in the papers. A well-known lady who for social reasons does not wish her name published, said: "I suffered with rheumatic pains all over my body. I was weak and nervous and my general health was very bad. Before I commenced taking Root Juice, but after taking it a short while all my aches and pains were gone and my general health has improved wonderfully." All who have investigated in this paper in relation to the remedy as true as gospel, and as this is the last week of the demonstration, those who need the great remedy cannot afford to let the demonstration close without getting some of it. Scores of local people have bought Root Juice and not a single complaint has been made. On the contrary, they are praising it to the skies all over town. It is certainly a wonderful medicine. Adv.

COOK FOR PEACE IN POLE PROBLEM

"PEARY CAN SAY WHAT HE PLEASES," DECLARES THE EXPLORER.

GETS OFFER OF A FORTUNE

Controversy with Naval Commander
Over Discovery of Pole Brings Tender of Fabulous Price for Books on Achievement in Arctic.

Copenhagen, Sept. 8.—While waiting, with perhaps more interest than any other man living, the full story of Commander Peary's discovery of the north pole, Dr. Frederick E. Cook has declared he will enter into no controversy with Peary concerning the merits of their respective claims.

When shown the dispatch which said that Commander Peary claimed to be the first man to reach the north pole, Dr. Cook said:

"Commander Peary of course can say whatever he wishes. I am not accustomed to indulge in controversy. All I have to say about Commander Peary is that if he says he reached the north pole I believe he reached the north pole."

Cook Is Offered a Fortune.
One of the most remarkable results of Commander Peary's rivalry with Dr. Cook for the discovery of the pole is that Dr. Cook's profits from the enterprise are likely to be largely increased.

He has received offers for his books and lectures at twice the figures previously tendered. One American, of the highest standing, enabled terms almost startling and, it is believed, far beyond any sum hitherto paid for such work. Dr. Cook is likely to accept this offer.

The controversy is beginning to wane warmer here. Commander Peary's statement is unanimously accepted as true, but there is a large following faithful to Dr. Cook. His lecture before the Geographical society last night, however, added little to the information he had given out with reference to his expedition, and he repeated the declaration of his intention to withhold details until the publication of his book.

Receives a Gold Medal.

The king and queen, Prince and Princess George of Greece and many of the members of the royal family, together with a large gathering of the most prominent people in Copenhagen, witnessed the presentation to Dr. Cook of a gold medal by the crown prince, and listened to the explorer's lecture afterwards. Standing in front of an immense map of the arctic regions, which was surmounted by the Stars and Stripes, Dr. Cook outlined his progress to the north pole. In introducing the explorer, the crown prince said that his reception in Greenland and at Copenhagen showed the way the Danes appreciated his wonderful exploit.

"It is too early," said the explorer, "to give the general results of the expedition. Time is required to digest the work of polar effort. You have not allowed time in Copenhagen. This northward dash has occupied the minds of men for more than 300 years. Slowly and surely the ladder of latitude has been climbed with various degrees of success. Experience was gained and each expedition profited by the misadventures of its predecessors. The failure of one expedition led to the success of subsequent efforts.

Indebted to Peary.
"The art of polar travel has been created and this art was the nucleus of our equipment. We chanced tactics to suit our purpose, but I am bound to acknowledge at the outset that success would not have been possible without the less fortunate forerunners. All honor to the pioneers, the pathfinders to the pole, the earlier explorers. We are particularly indebted to Nansen and Peary and many Danish explorers for the last stages of polar progress. In my case I am especially indebted to Capt. Sverdrup, who is here. His work gave us a new road which afforded us a chance to try the ice a little further west.

"Although profiting by other ventures, our expeditions differed in some important respects. The route we selected I had planned out years ago as a result of reading the splendid narrative of Sverdrup. About the middle of 1907, when we started, the pole was no part of the program, which aimed altogether at study and recreation, with the pole possibly as a future problem."

"If I have been within a circle a kilometer in diameter where the pole is situated," exclaimed the explorer, "I am satisfied that that is quite sufficient for practical purposes. I will say no more until my book is published."

On Trial for Conspiracy.
Pittsburg, Pa., Sept. 8.—R. B. Saylor, formerly local superintendent of the Western Union Telegraph Company, and William H. Thompson and William H. Smith, brokers, are on trial here on charges of conspiracy growing out of the "leak" of market reports transmitted over the wires for the Chicago Board of Trade.

Another Quake in Italy.
Stroma, Italy, Sept. 8.—An earthquake shook the inhabitants of Stromboli, Monticchio and Marlo di Vesuvio into a panic and they are now camped in the streets. A large number of houses were damaged, but there were no casualties.

Doost!
If you cannot boost your own town, better move to another. No one will miss you.

Your foods are in two classes: Foods that please you by their taste, and foods that you depend on because of what they do for you. Quaker Oats has all the good qualities of both classes.

"BOARDERS TAKEN IN."
The farmer has a little tin.
Which he has saved with care;
All summer he took boarders in
And now takes in the fair.

General Booth and daughter.

London.—General Booth was operated upon this week for septicaemia of the eye. The doctors are not yet able to say whether or not the general's sight will be saved. His falling eyesight is due to infection of the eyes, and the inflammation of age. The trouble has compelled General William Booth, founder and head of the Salvation Army to strike his colors in warfare against sin and poverty. It is feared he will never again be able to take up the burden of the army's work, which he has borne for more than thirty years. Among the proposed projects which he has had to abandon are a crusading tour of the British provinces and a visit to the United States. General Booth came to America in 1907 receiving a most enthusiastic welcome from his followers and others who believed in the work of the Salvation Army. On April 10, of the present year the eightieth birthday of General Booth was celebrated in London and throughout the world wherever members of the Salvation Army are gathered with many evidences of the reverence in which he is by his people.

Cause and Effect.
Great results usually arise from great dangers.—Herodotus.

HAY FEVER.
Across the amber autumn fields
The goldenrod is glowing;
And from the yellow blooms in clouds
The pollen is a-blowing.
And as the dust goes gayly by,
We find there's something doing,
For every person in the land
Begins a loud "a-chewing!"

Savagery.
All men have a working knowledge of duty. A savage is a man who hasn't cultivated the art of making a great deal of talk about it.—Puck.

Tom Johnson Renominated.
Cleveland, O., Sept. 8.—Incomplete returns indicate that Tom L. Johnson, three times mayor of Cleveland, was renominated for that position on the Democratic ticket at the primary election. Herman C. Baehr is the probable Republican nominee.

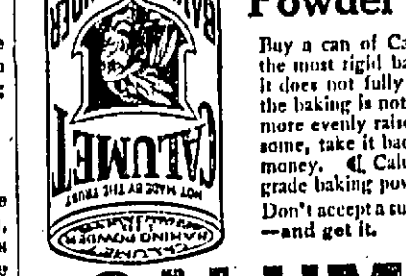

Lord Strathcona Injured.
Winnipeg, Man., Sept. 8.—Lord Strathcona has been injured in a runaway accident.

Live in To-day.
To-morrow you have no business with. You steal if you touch to-morrow. It is God's. Every day has in it enough to keep any man occupied without concerning himself with the things beyond.—Henry Ward Beecher.

Embracing the Subject.
"Do you think that young fellow who is visiting our Nell is trying to persuade her to marry him?" "Well, from a glimpse I had of them last evening as I passed the parlor, I rather think he is bringing some pressure to bear on the subject." "It's a pity."

Seeing is Believing.

BUSINESS NEWS

is another name for advertising. If you have received your new fall goods it's time to spread the news.

And that reminds us of Mrs. Customer: She needs a new parlor carpet and will be much more interested in your carpet advertisement than a paragraph about Smith's newly painted barn.

Investment
Through cubicles of antiquity surrounded the saying that wealth is the center that destroys nations. Wealth may destroy nations but we are all anxious to be in at the death. It is the alluring reward of all human endeavor and no one is enough of it to satisfy the nation. A four or five percent investment does not quite fit the American temperament. I have some stock for sale in one of the most conservative countries in the world. Capital $1,000,000, now in process of organization, with four of the largest banks in Milwaukee in it as well as many bankers and good citizens throughout the state.
